Feast of Christ the King

Today is the Feast of Christ the King and marks the end of the Church's Year. The Scripture readings today, then, are all about endings, both our own and the ending of the world, seen through the eyes of faith. The call of the Word of God is clear: do not be frightened; there will be fearful sights but not a hair of your head will be lost; the light of God will shine out with healing in its rays. So we face the future with hope for we know that all endings are within the sight of God, even the most distressing. God has shown this to us clearly in the death of Jesus, the only Son of God, who died in agony and isolation. In Jesus, God embraced all our endings and in the Resurrection of Jesus made clear His will that they have a glorious final outcome

The vandalism that took place on the occasion of Halloween in the vicinity of Holy Cross church was discussed at the recent meeting of the Parish Pastoral Council.

It was recalled that in 2013 some of the timber railings on the way to the church were used to start a fire in the Canon's field.

This year the two large refuse bins were taken from the graveyard and set alight in the field.

The flood lights surrounding the church were also interfered with.

The matter has been reported to the Gardai.
